

Upcycling and Sustainability

Stitched by Nature: Patch work with naturally dyed fabric

Student: Anushka Mitra, M. Des-Textiles

Supervisor: Prof. Sankar Roy Maulik

This project was done using the patchwork method, taking inspiration from the Ralli Patchwork of Gujarat and also Sind, Pakistan. The traditional, naturally dyed fabrics were transformed into multiple patches, stitched together, taking inspiration from modern-day nature. This work not only demonstrates patience but also tells a compelling story of age-old craftsmanship, sustainability and upcycling.

Dyeing of the fabric

Dyed fabrics for the patchwork

Appliqué embroidery process

Patchwork quilt with naturally dyed fabric

Patchwork tableware with naturally dyed fabric